

HAMPTON UNIVERSITY
HAMPTON, VIRGINIA

SCRIPPS HOWARD SCHOOL OF
JOURNALISM AND COMMUNICATIONS
(757) 727 - 5405

January 31, 2008

To: High School Senior or Transfer Student
From: Tony Brown, Dean
Scripps Howard School of Journalism and Communications

“PUT STUDENTS FIRST”

PERSONALIZED SERVICE

If the module mastery test results of your EGUMPP home-based independent study demonstrate that you need extra help with a specific essential competency or common writing errors (possessive apostrophe error, tense shift, pronoun agreement error, etc.), you will be assigned to a section of JAC-110 that will focus on strengthening your skills in those specific areas. This personalized service will allow us to match your grammar needs with the best learning environment and to accelerate your progress.

Through the Dean’s Six O’clock Club, we want to increase the number of pre-majors who pass the Scripps Howard School entrance exam and help them improve their grade point averages with the help of EGUMPP. This effort is continued in JAC-110 with the help of EGUMPP where the system includes lesson objectives, audio tutorials, lesson reinforcement, online flashcards, graded tests, module mastery tests and a complete grading system. We are considering using EGUMPP in advanced courses to make the entire student body totally fluent with the English language, so why not get started now?

SCRIPPS HOWARD SCHOOL ADVISORS: (757) 727-5405; (email: shsjc@hamptonu.edu); Dr. Jerrold Roy (757) 727-5405; Professor Whitaker-Heck at (757) 727-5405. When you arrive at Hampton, you will be assigned a permanent advisor.

TIPS

MATH. Before you enroll in math or take summer classes, please contact a Scripps Howard School advisor.

FINAL CUT PRO: This extracurricular immersion activity is available to students in the Dean’s Six O’clock Club on a first-come basis. Contact Dean Tony Brown when you arrive at Hampton University.

-30-